OPTIONAL SATURDAY NAME FOUNDATION OUTREACH FUNDRAISER

“THE JEFFREY DAHMER DEATH INVESTIGATION: QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS 30 YEARS LATER”

Date: Saturday, October 16, 2021

Location: Hilton West Palm Beach,
West Palm Beach, Florida

Time: 8:00 PM to 10:00 PM

Attendance Restricted and Pre-Registration Required

Please join us Saturday, October 16th from 8 to 10 PM at the Hilton West Palm Beach, West Palm Beach, Florida. On behalf of the NAME Foundation Board of Trustees, I would like to announce the sixth annual Saturday evening NAME Foundation fundraising event, to be presented in conjunction with the NAME Annual Meeting in West

Palm Beach, FL. This year’s event will be a look at Jeffrey Dahmer Deaths, and will not be open to the public. The presenter will be our very own Dr. Jeffrey Jentzen and his presentation entitled The Jeffrey Dahmer Death Investigation: Questions and Answers 30 Year Later. Jeffrey M. Jentzen, MD, PhD is an Emeritus Clinical Professor of Pathology at the University of Michigan. Dr. Jentzen served as medical examiner for Milwaukee County Wisconsin from 1987 to 2008. The Milwaukee office investigated the 2001 Jeffrey Dahmer deaths. Since 2008, Dr. Jentzen has been at the University of Michigan practicing in the autopsy and forensic service. This presentation will provide first-hand documentation and insight in to the Jeffrey Dahmer death investigation. It will examine the social, cultural, racial, and political environment in Milwaukee at the time which influenced the investigation. An effort to understand Dahmer’s psychological state and motivation for killing will be discussed. The presentation will review death investigative practices and challenges in a pre-911 era when DNA analysis and federal mass fatality funding was not readily available to medical examiner offices. In addition, the talk with illustrate the concept of the mini-disaster, although small in the number of victims, these disasters present similar logistical and strategic obstacles similar to larger multiple fatality incidents.

Do you have an idea, comment or Suggestion?

NAME FEATURE

Reade Quinton, MD

Educational Activities Committee Chair

The NAME Listserv or “NAME-L” has existed for over 20 years. Originally created by Dr. Randy Hanzlick through Emory University, the list was an email group intended to bring NAME members together in the days before internet chat rooms and social media existed. The content of the NAME-L has always been variable – sometimes informative, sometimes toxic, and oftentimes not inviting to younger members.

The NAME-L Educational Activities Committee (EAC) was created by Dr. Sally Aiken and the NAME executive committee in May of 2020. The goal was to encourage younger members of NAME to participate on the NAME-L by providing professionally relevant content and directing constructive conversations in forensic pathology. The original committee was composed of three board-certified forensic pathologists (Dr. Reade Quinton (Chair), Dr. Theodore (Ted) Brown, and Dr. Nika Aljinovic), one forensic pathology fellow (Dr. Gregory Dickinson), two pathology residents (Dr. Fabiola Righi and Dr. Alicia Nickel), and one MD/PhD student (Daniel Kirsch).

Using Survey Monkey as a data collection platform, the team posted their first question to the NAME-L on 6/26/2020. The materials are designed to be easily accessed on any platform including computers, laptops, pads, and smartphones. Positive feedback from participants was immediate, particularly from medical students, residents, and fellows.

Since June of 2020, educational content has been posted every Friday (at a minimum), alternating between “Case of the Week” questions and answers, member profiles, several mentorship surveys, and open topics. NAME members are encouraged to share the case links with their trainees. At the Mayo Clinic, we distribute the “Case of the Week” questions to the pathology residents, pathologist’s assistants, and autopsy faculty. In addition to NAME-L, the weekly content is archived to the EAC page of the NAME website, and is now accessible to the public (<https://www.thename.org/educational-activities-committee>).

The response to this material has been extremely encouraging. However, the committee and NAME leadership felt that this activity should be expanded even more. The content is beneficial to our trainees, but does not help with recruitment into the field of forensic pathology. The NAME members participating on the NAME-L are, by definition, interested in forensic pathology. In 2021, the committee expanded to 15 members (see group photo) and took a multiplatform approach, distributing selected EAC materials to social media including Facebook, Twitter, and Reddit. Prior to 2021, most questions had 200-300 responses. Use of social media has shown average responses over 300 with a record of 804 responses. It is our hope that we can have a positive impact on student and resident recruitment.

As of the time of this publication, the EAC has released over 20 “Case of the Week” questions and 10 member profiles. It is our hope to also add “virtual” forensic pathology Grand Rounds in the near future. If anyone would like to provide a case or has other ideas for content, please reach out to Dr. Reade Quinton at quinton.reade@mayo.edu.

EXAMPLES OF THE EAC “CASE OF THE WEEK”

A. A heart with multiple abscesses, later proven to be Aspergillus.

Visa Information for International Medical Professionals seeking to visit Medical Examiner and Coroner's Offices in the US

Purpose

This guide is intended to be an introduction to the various avenues available to medical professionals seeking to visit ME/Coroner's offices in the US.

Target Audience

Foreign medical professionals and ME/Coroner's offices

Visa Options

For many ME offices that are happy to accept international visitors/trainees, the B-1 Visa, J-1 Visa or Visa Waiver program would be good options. Which option to choose would depend on the length and purpose of the intended visit and sponsorship capabilities of the host organization.

Glossary

Visa: An endorsement on a passport indicating that the holder is allowed to enter, leave or stay for a specified period of time in a country

B-1: Short term, non-immigrant visa for observership Maximum duration of 6 months

J-1: Non-immigrant visa for observership, training or research Maximum duration of 7 years

H-1B: Dual-intent visa i.e. a visa holder could apply for a green card Maximum duration of 6 years

Visa Waiver: No visa needed. For short observerships, no longer than 90 days

B-1 VISA

- 1 Short-term, non-immigrant visa for observerships.
- 2 Maximum 6 months stay, although can occasionally be extended.
- 3 The visitor is responsible for applying for the visa and a fee is involved.
- 4 ME/Coroner Office must provide letter of invitation to applicant, stating purpose of visit (strictly observership), applicant's financial arrangement (no US funds used), and the start and end dates. Other than this, no sponsorship needed.

Other requirements are that:

- 5 The visitor must have a profession or studies outside the U.S. to which he or she will return (may need documentation to prove this).
- 6 There must be evidence that the visitor has finances to fund the visit, including transportation and health insurance.
- 7 For those individuals with a medical degree; there are no patient care responsibilities, only observing.
- 8 Will not be paid a salary from a U.S. source.
- 9 The activity at the ME office will primarily benefit the visitor, not the ME office

Note: It is probably a good idea for B-1 visa applicants to consult with an immigration attorney to ensure the process is as smooth as possible.

J-1 VISA

- 1 Non-immigrant visa for observerships, training or research.
- 2 Maximum length of stay varies depending on purpose of visit.
- 3 For physician residency training (including fellowship), maximum stay is 7 years.
- 4 Needs sponsorship by the host organization.
- 5 There are eligibility requirements to become a J-1 sponsor, and paperwork for both the host organization and visitor.
- 6 Sponsorship is best achieved through an affiliated academic institution or a private entity that contracts with the host organization to co-ordinate paperwork (See later section: Additional Considerations for Host ME/Coroner's Offices).

Note: An advantage of the J-1 visa is that a spouse of the visa holder is eligible to work in the US during their stay. The foreign physician is required to return to their home country after completion of the program of study, but in some cases a waiver of home residence requirement can be obtained: that discussion is beyond the scope of this guide, but further information about J-1 waivers is readily available online.

Visa Waiver for Business Program

Short-term, non-immigrant program. Does not require a visa.

For this, the individual must stay no longer than 90 days; therefore, this option would only be appropriate for short term electives or observerships.

There is a list of 38 countries that participate on the US Department of State website at: <https://travel.state.gov/content/travel/en/us-visas/tourism-visit/visa-waiver-program.html>

Individuals eligible for this would need to obtain a travel authorization (ESTA) - an automated application can be done online at: www.esta.us

Note: It is also advisable for the hosting office to provide a letter, similar to that used for the B-1 visa, to facilitate the visitor's entry to the US. This letter can be shown to an immigration officer at the port of entry if there are questions about the purpose of the visit.

H-1B VISA

- 1 A dual-intent visa i.e. the visa holder could potentially apply for permanent resident status (green card).
- 2 The dual-intent nature of the visa means that the scrutiny for H visas is much heavier than for J-1 and B-1.
- 3 Maximum length of stay is 6 years (granted for 3 years initially, with option to renew for further 3 years if needed).
- 4 The processing time is long (usually 2-6 months but can be longer). This time can be reduced by paying a 'premium processing' fee.
- 5 H-1B visa applications are complex, usually requiring legal assistance.

Note: The employer needs to demonstrate that the applicant has specialized knowledge and qualifications that make them eligible for the position, and that there are no equivalent US citizens available to fill the position. Paperwork and expenses, such as application and legal fees, can be considerable. As with J-1 visas, sponsorship for an H-1 visa applicant is best achieved with the assistance of an affiliated academic institution or a private entity. If these options are not available, then the input of an immigration lawyer who specializes in work visas is advisable. The latter can add extra expense to the process, in addition to the visa application fees.

Additional Considerations for Host ME/Coroner's Offices

- 1 ME/Coroner offices interested in hosting foreign visitors are advised to look into affiliation with a local institution ahead of time, if this is not already in place, and discuss sponsorship requirements with the institution's immigration office, as well as other necessary visitor requirements like medical insurance, so that they are prepared for potential applicants.
- 2 A key point is that ME offices accepting visitors would need to ensure the visitor has adequate health insurance coverage, up to date immunizations and, if required, adequate funds and return travel arrangements.
- 3 There are private entities available that contract with host institutions to facilitate the sponsorship process. They work with the State Department and the international visitor to manage and co-ordinate required paperwork, including insurance and immunizations. The assistance of these entities can considerably reduce the time burden and complexity of the process for the sponsoring office. One such organization is the Center for International Career Development (CICD). They have worked with several medical examiner offices to successfully sponsor a foreign physician visitor. Website links to this and another similar private organization are listed in the Useful Links section.

Summary

There are several visa options available for foreign medical professionals wishing to visit a US ME/Coroner's Office. Selecting the appropriate option is an individual choice, both for the visitor and sponsoring institution, based upon a variety of factors such as the intended course of study, length of stay and sponsorship requirements.

Private organizations are available who can contract with the host office to considerably ease the process of sponsoring a foreign medical professional.

Foreign physicians and potential hosts interested in exploring these visa options are encouraged to connect with members of the International Relations Committee at the NAME meeting.

Many of the committee members have first-hand experience, both as visa holders and sponsors, and would be happy to discuss them further.
